DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-5 and 7-16 remain in this application for examination, claim 6 has been cancelled, and new claims 17-19 have been added.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 13-15 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim they do not refer back in the alternative only. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claim 13-15 not been further treated on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-5, 7-9 and 12, 17-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by WO 99/37054, hereinafter '054.
5. As to claims 1-5, 7-9 and 12, 17-19 '054 teach a method of controlling access, at least one user, a remote server, a communication link, allocating disk storage, unique to at least one user, allowing user to access storage, username, password, encrypted data, an encrypted path /SSL / session key exchange, a digital certificate, public key, allowing at least one other user, authentication of users, electronic safety deposit system, account based internet server, downloading or uploading documents, centralized server, data confidentiality, integrity, repudiation, at least one further user access/ read/write, managed by the at least one user, and proof. See "054 at abs., related art, summary, pgs. 7-12, 15, page 9, line 1 et seq., page 10, 2nd. Paragraph et seq., claims 1-6, 9-10, 24, 25-27, 29, and 33, and figs. 1-3.

6. Claims 1-5, 7-12, 17-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by An et al., U.S. Pat. No. 6,715,073, hereinafter '073.

7. As to claims 1-5, 7-12, 17-19 '073 teaches a secure server having a method and apparatus comprising: controlling access, at least one user, a remote server, a communication link, allocating disk storage, unique to at least one user, allowing user to access storage, username, password, encrypted data, a digital certificate, managed by user, an internet services, an encrypted path /SSL / session key exchange, a digital certificate, public key, allowing at least one other user, authentication of users, electronic safety deposit system, account based internet server, downloading or uploading documents, centralized server, data confidentiality, integrity, repudiation, and proof, account holder, electronic deposit box, central server, downloading or uploading documents, allowing access/ read/ write by user to another, with date times frames/ access/validity period. See abstract, figs. 1-4, 6-9, col. 1, lines 62 et seq.- col. 2, lines 25-50 et seq., and col. 4, line 28 et seq., and cols. 5-8.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claims 13-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over '073 as applied to claims 1-12.

10. As to claims 13-16, '073 substantially teaches the claimed invention as recited above, not explicitly taught is the apparatus being embodied as a program on a computer readable medium.

11. The examiner takes official notice of both the motive and modification necessary for placing a computer related invention on a computer readable or program medium. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to place the invention of '073 on a computer readable medium, by augmenting the invention to be stored as software, firmware or placing it on one of various magnetic or optical mediums. A person of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to perform such a modification because, the use of optical and magnetic medias are well known in the art as means of storing, implementing, and shipping computer program products. One of ordinary skill in the art would have readily realized that the use of these well established medias or programs could be utilized in the computer related invention of '073, because, inevitable every computer invention will have to be loaded or stored in a computer for storage, initialization, or execution. This is notoriously well known in the art.

12. Alternatively, claims 13-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over "054 as applied to claims 1-7, 9, 12.

13. As to claims 13-16, '054 substantially teaches the claimed invention as recited above, not explicitly taught is the apparatus being embodied as a program on a computer readable medium.

14. The examiner takes official notice of both the motive and modification necessary for placing a computer related invention on a computer readable or program medium. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to place the invention of '054 on a computer readable medium, by augmenting the invention to be stored as software, firmware or placing it on one of various magnetic or optical mediums. A person of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to perform such a modification because, the use of optical and magnetic medias are well known in the art as means of storing, implementing, and shipping computer program products. One of ordinary skill in the art would have readily realized that the use of these well established medias or programs could be utilized in the computer related invention of '054, because, inevitable every computer invention will have to be loaded or stored in a computer for storage, initialization, or execution. This is notoriously well known in the art.

Response to Arguments

15. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 4/01/05 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

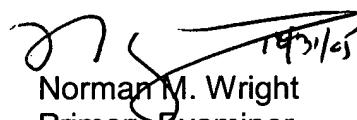

16. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
